

Credo of the African Engineering Practitioner

I am an engineering practitioner and in my profession I take deep pride.

To it I owe solemn obligation.

I pledge to practice integrity and fair dealing, tolerance and respect, and to uphold devotion to the standards and dignity of my profession, conscious, always, of the fact that my skill carries with it the obligation to serve public good, by making the most sustainable use of Earth's precious resources.

I shall participate in none but honest enterprises. When needed, my skill and knowledge shall be given without reservation.

(Courtesy of SAICE)